On behalf of the staff and administration of Lowell High School, I want to wish the Class of '95 good health and success in all your future endeavors. I hope that you realize that the education you have received at Lowell High is just the beginning. It is our wish that you take the knowledge you have acquired, as well as the energy and talent that you have shown, to continue your education both formal and informal, and accomplish the goals, we hope, will bring satisfaction and happiness to you.

You have by your presence and actions at Lowell High School, made it a better high school; therefore, I ask that you continue to direct your energies and talents to making this a better world.

Congratulations and Best Wishes,
William Samaras, Headmaster

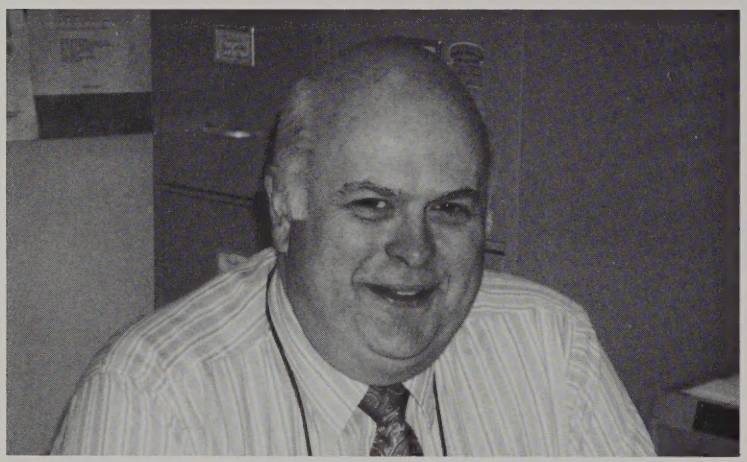
ADMINISTRATION

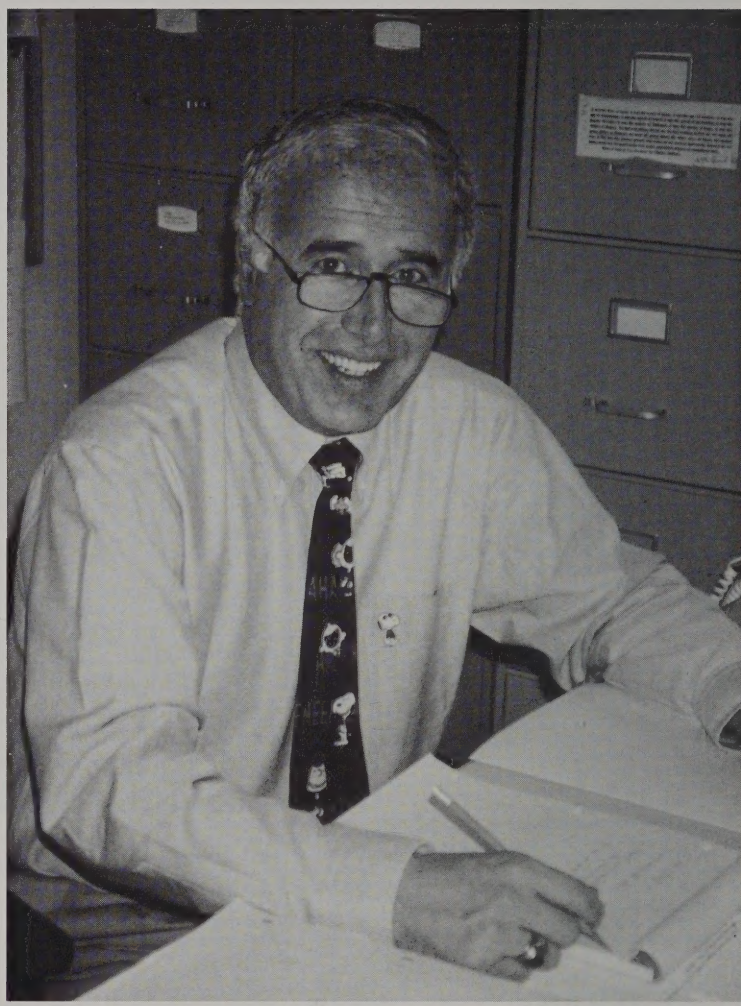
From the Main Office to our "Houses"

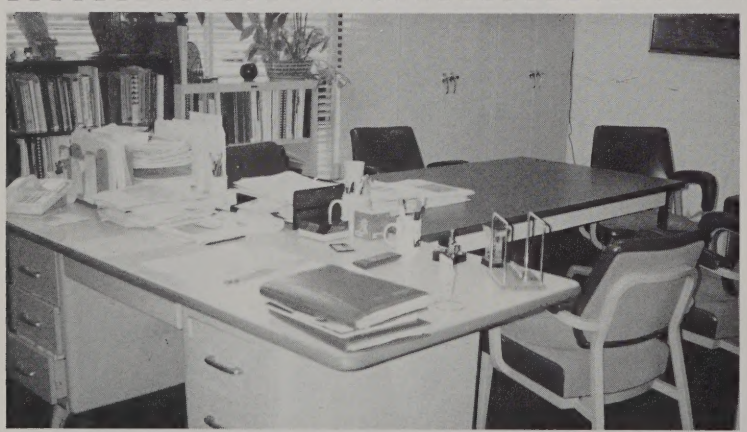
Headmaster William Samaras at the helm of the second largest high school in the state of Massachusetts faced a formidable job each and every day.

This year we bid farewell to retiring D-Housemaster Dan Sullivan and Master Jack O'Brien after decades of faithful service to Lowell High School.

Dr. David Moorehouse assumed the role of Master upon Mr. O'Brien's retirement, taking on the job of second in command.





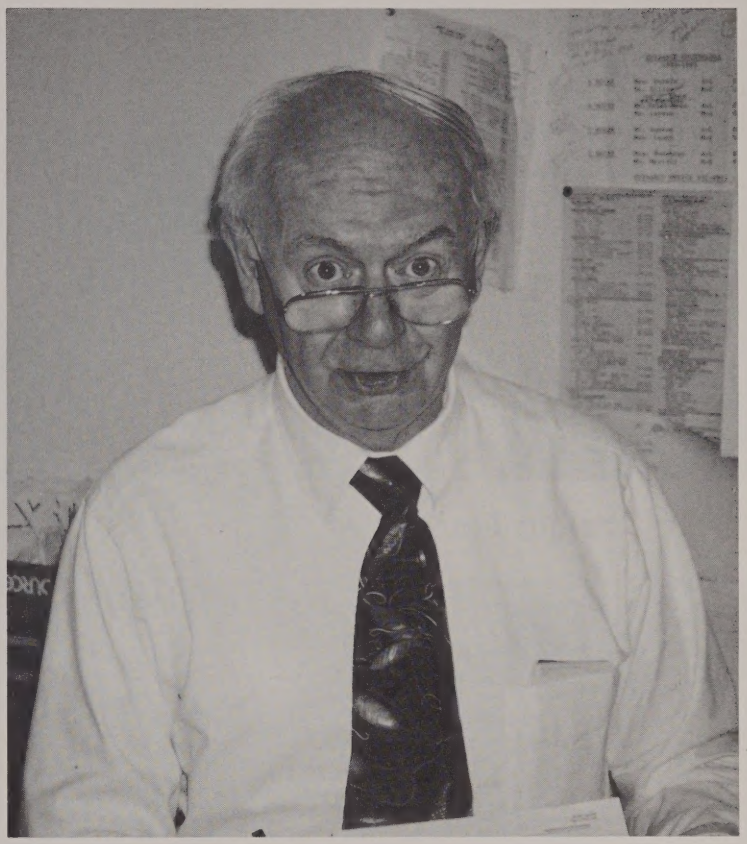


A secret glimpse into the inner sanctum of Headmaster Samaras. Check out the desk first thing in the morning.

The same desk by the end of the day. We knew he was under those papers somewhere!

Our Housemasters: A-B-C-D

A-Housemaster Gerald Leblanc paused only for a moment between cards. Note the American flag and the teddy bears. Real tough.



B-Housemaster Jim Considine hard at work with his paper trail. No one would escape.

Veteran C-Housemaster Patricia Kealy was always ready for what stacked up to be a non-stop operation. Ready, willing, and very able.

Dave Conway Dave Conway

Newly elected D-Housemaster assumed his role upon the retirement of Dan Sullivan. The Class of '95 helped to break him in.

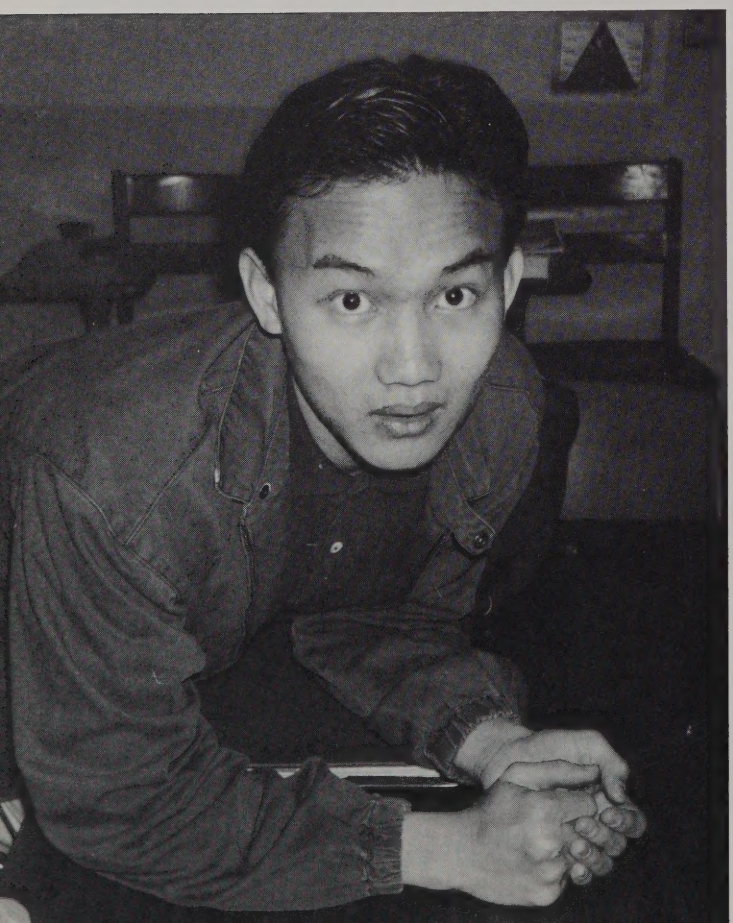
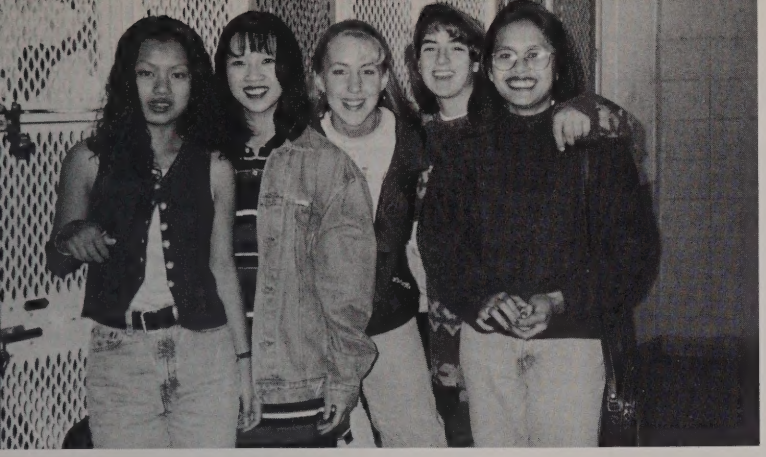
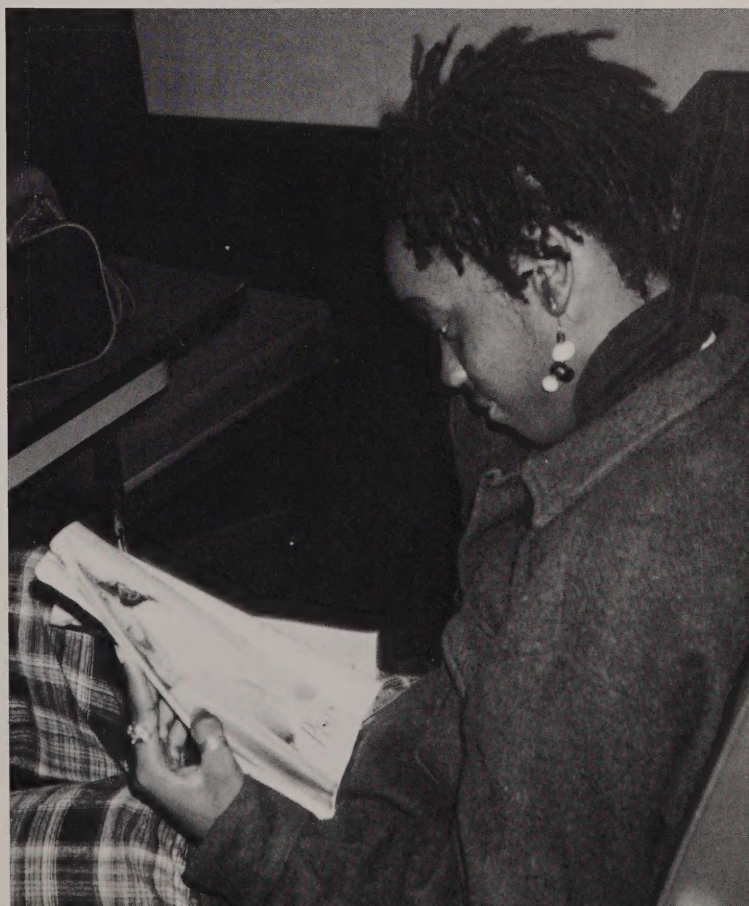
A DAY IN THE LIFE OF SENIOR





HAVING A "FINE LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL DAY"



Senior meeting in the cafeteria

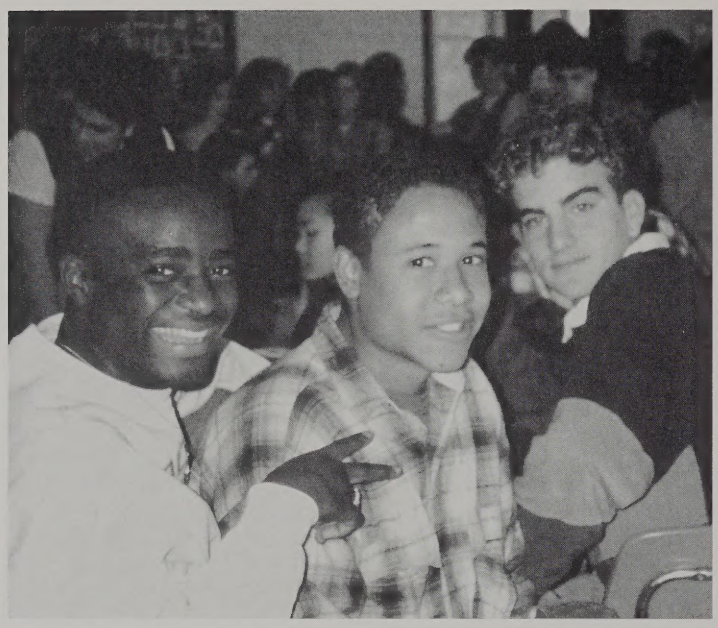
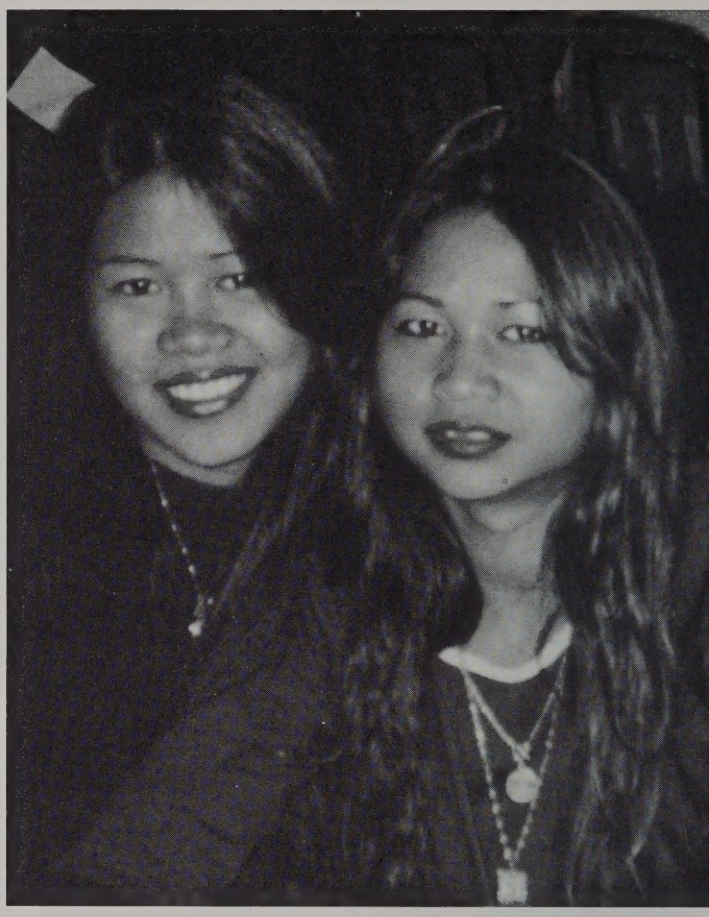
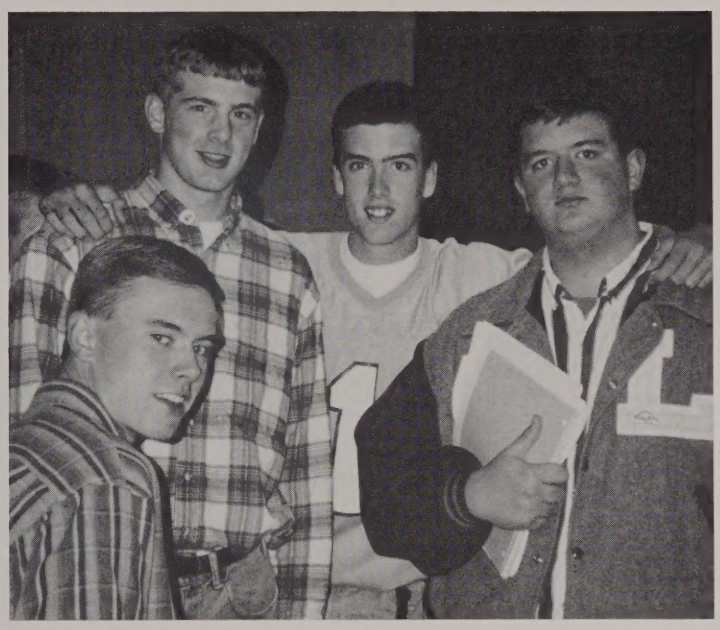
Friends to the end of our senior year

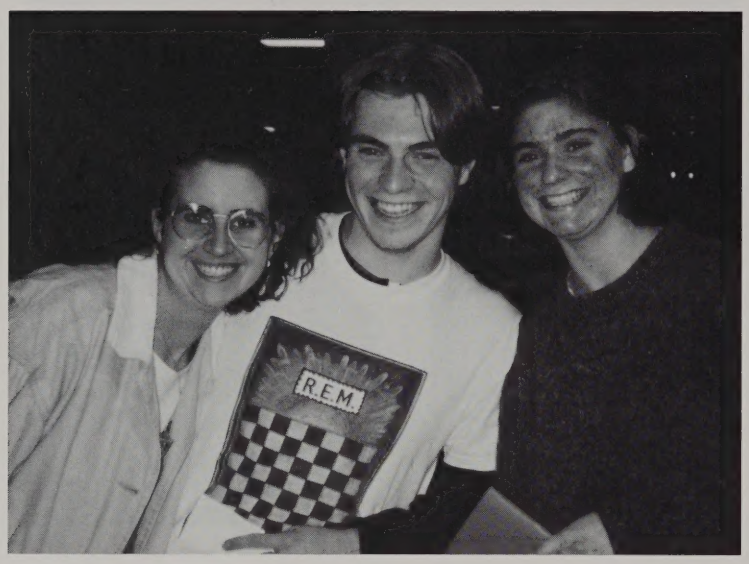


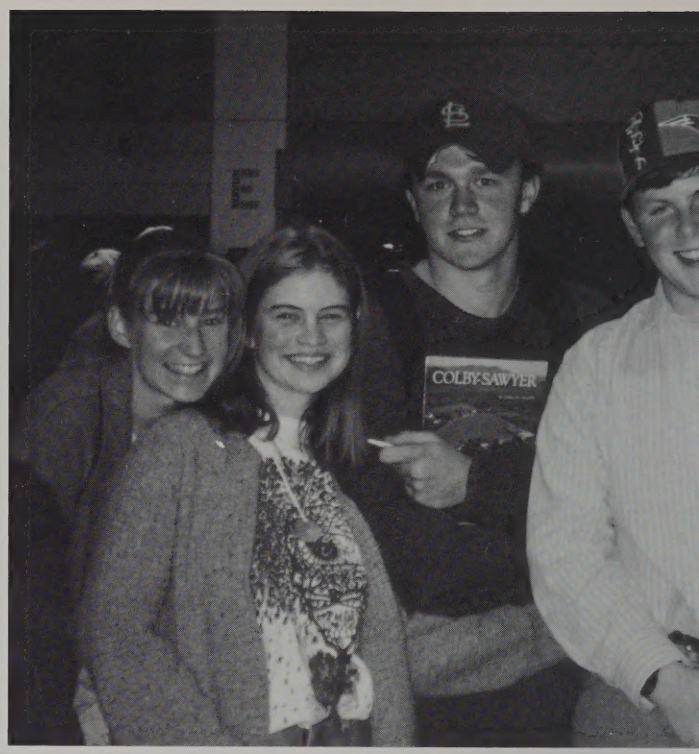


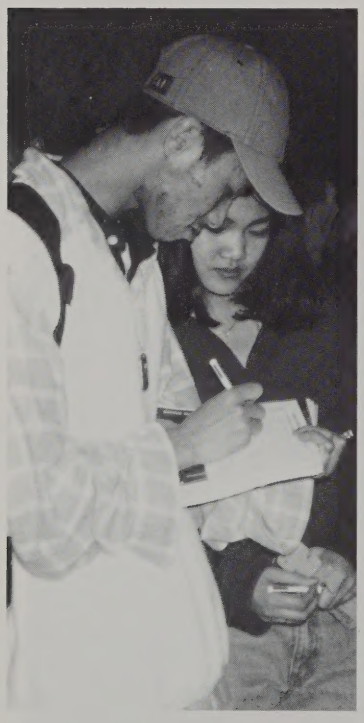
"Camera-shy" not in the senior dictionary

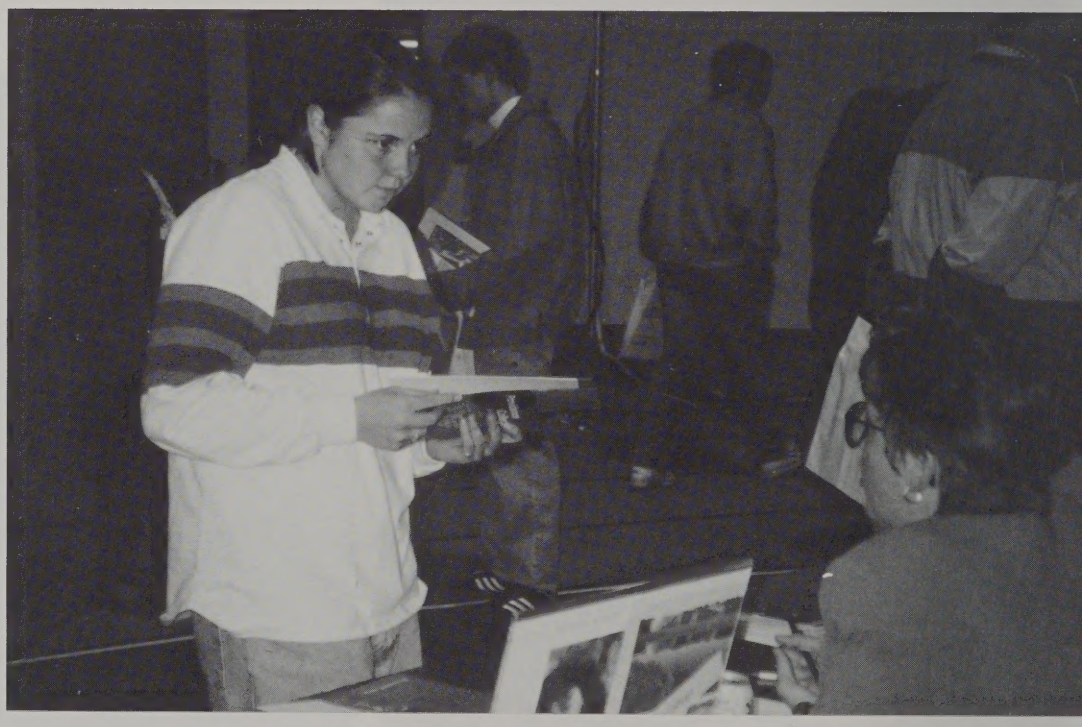


We're looking for something in a triple dorm, preferably a townhouse with parking facilities and an indoor pool.



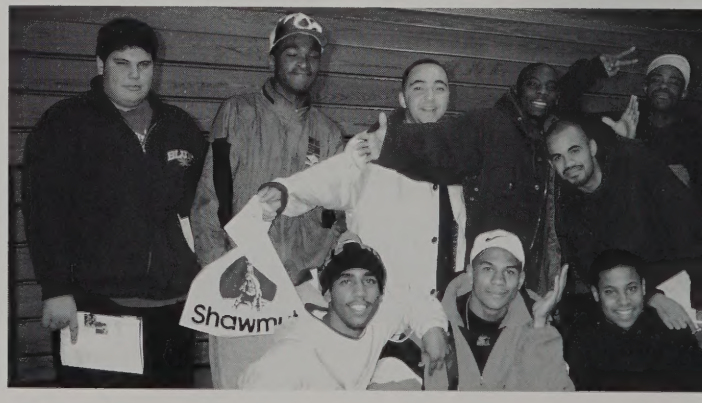






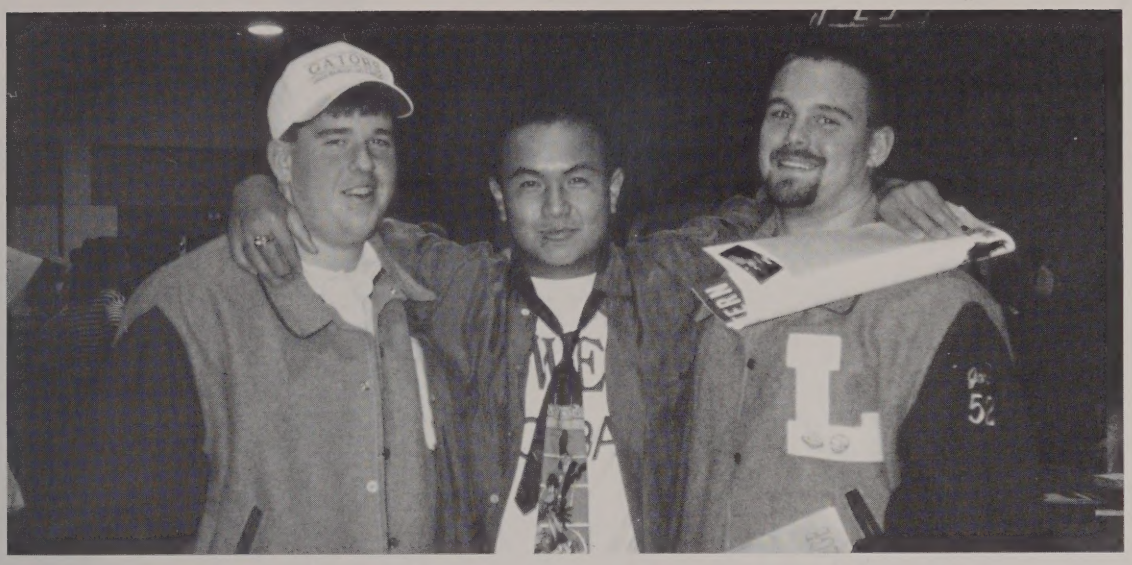
If I fill this application out tonight, they'll really think I'm interested.

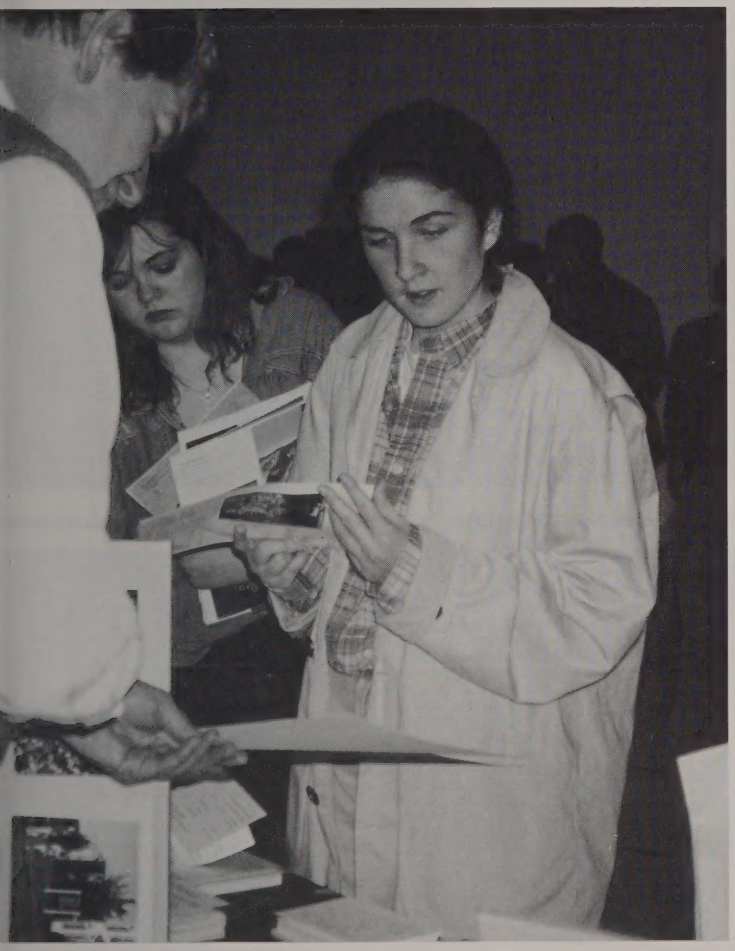
How many ten's of thousands did you say for the first year?



Colleges simply can't resist these faces. The offers are flowing in. They didn't even ask about our GPA, class rank or SAT scores.

I thought the college reps might be impressed that I wore a tie and carried around this Northeastern poster. My bodyguards here helped me get through the crowds.





The Search

College Fair A Major Draw

The night of November 15th attracted hundreds of students from fourteen surrounding high schools, all in search of their college of choice. Representatives from over 130 colleges and universities gathered in the Riddick Fieldhouse for the 13th Annual Merrimack Valley College Fair to answer questions and distribute information packets. Some juniors and seniors arrived knowing who they were seeking, while others made some interesting discoveries about programs and requirements. The fair also meant a night out for many students!

At last count, LHS sent 85% of its student body to either two or four year colleges and the goal for 1995 was even higher. Not bad for a large urban high school, considering the Lowell Sun reported that this figure was 15% higher than the state average! By comparison, Billerica sent 82%, Tyngsboro sent 70%, and Dracut sent 80%. We prepared for college and we never looked back.

We told the colleges we come as a package deal and they couldn't turn us down. Early acceptance letters must be in the mail.

I might consider Ivy League. Just how much IS this "full boat" you're offering me?

LHS Trounces Tewskbury and Crowns Homecoming Queen

Homecoming 1994

Angela Glaude, Sandra Santos, Rosilen Alicea and Jessica Lopez reigned as Homecoming Queen and Her Court on October 21, 1994.

Angela won top billing out of thirty-three candidates in the school-wide election for Homecoming Queen.

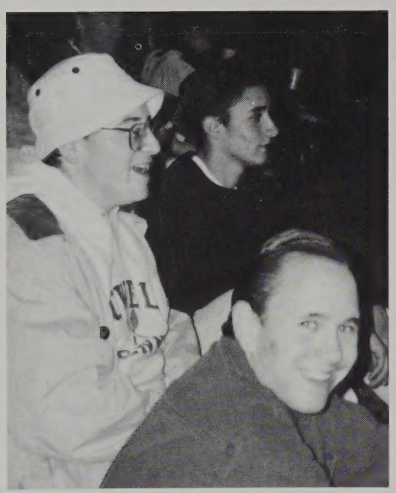
SCHOOL SPIRIT

From pep rallies to the Friday night football games there was never a lack of enthusiasm. The most unforgettable times came out of these LHS events.

FANS WERE ALWAYS NUMBER ONE

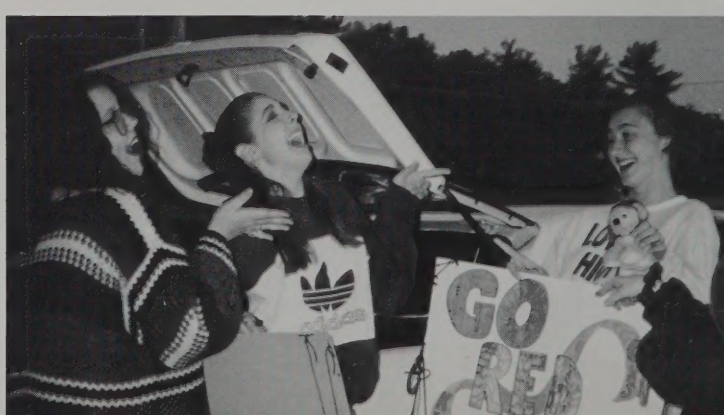


Some very strange fans were among the most faithful. The Chelmsford game afforded us our only loss, but spirits still weren't daunted.

We hoped they could do it, anyway!

It's a good thing it was a warm fall for this display.

Football enthusiasts with a flair for the dramatic.



The laugh was staged, the support was for real!

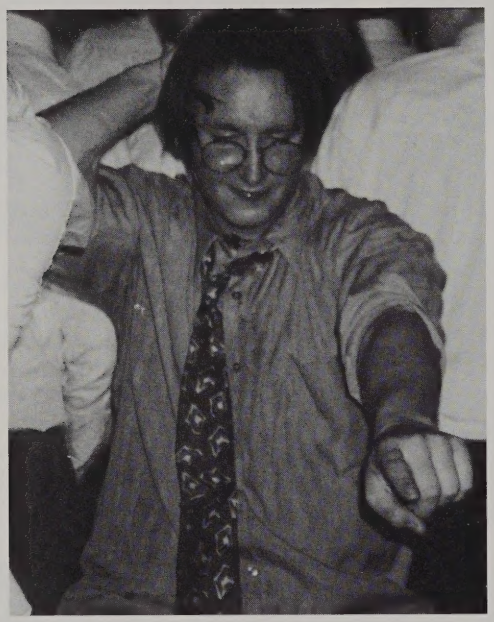
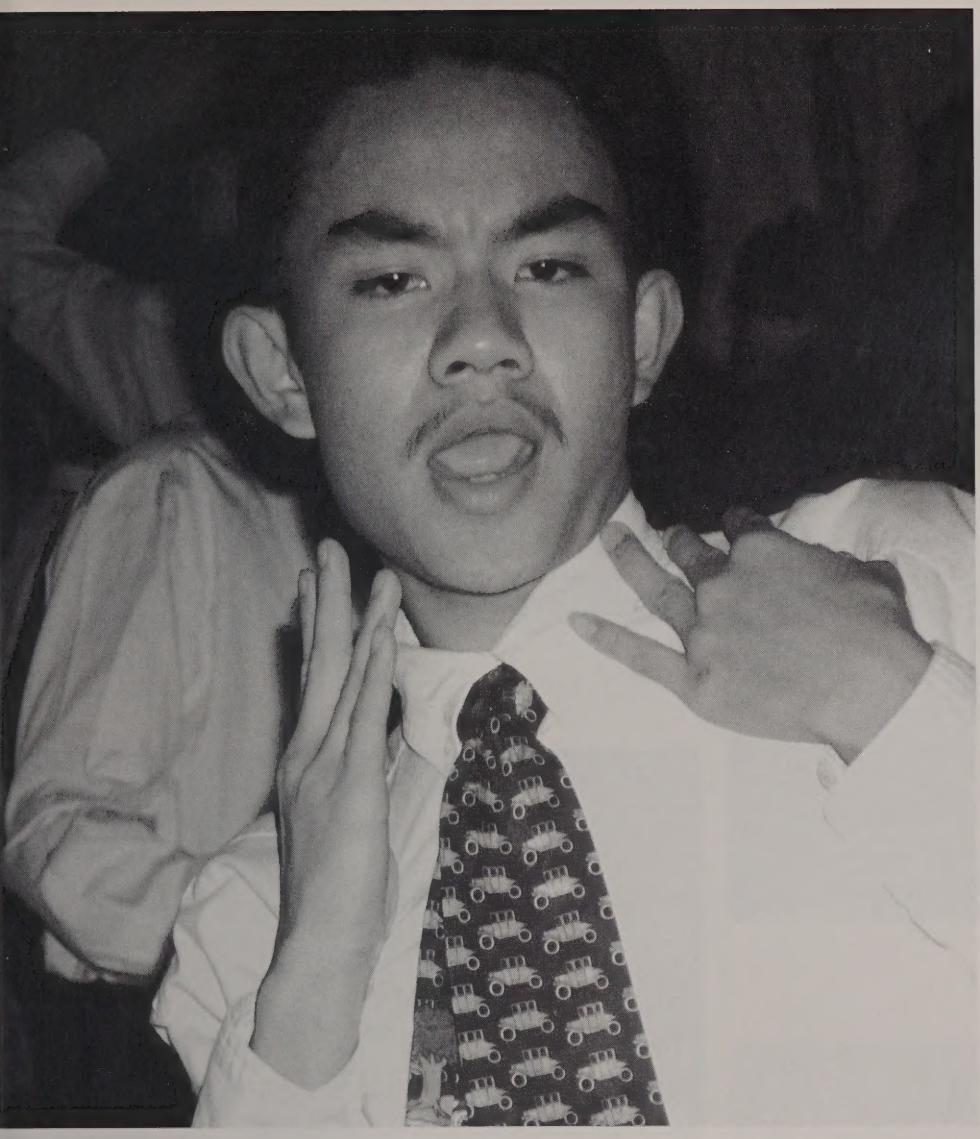
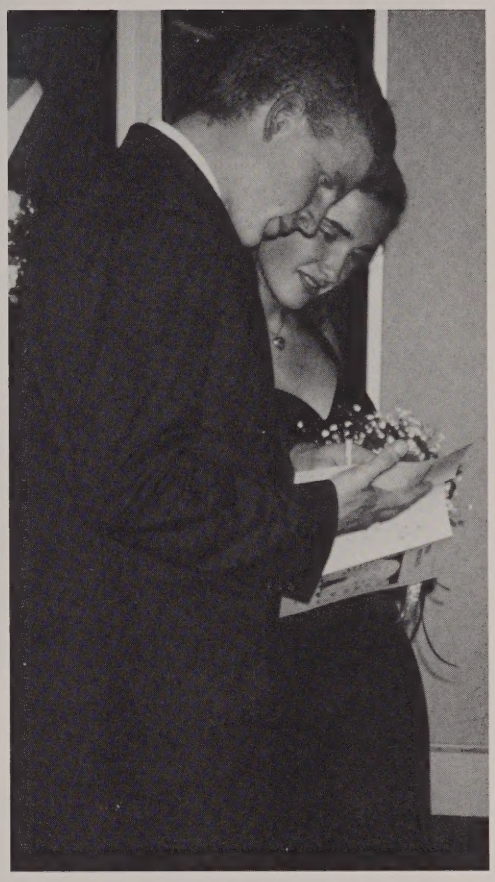
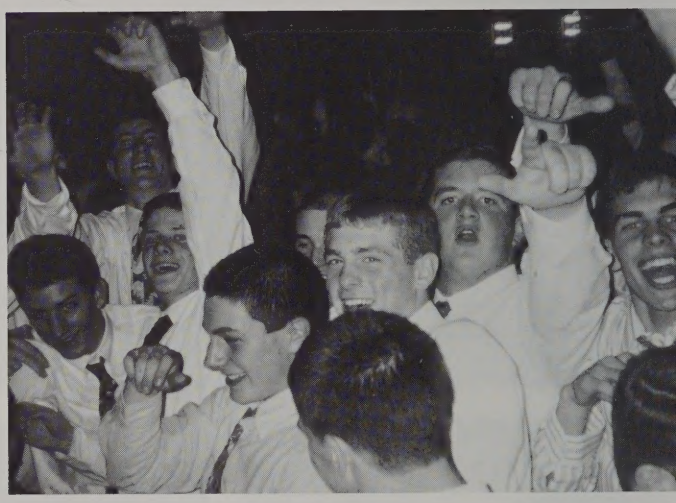
The Harvest



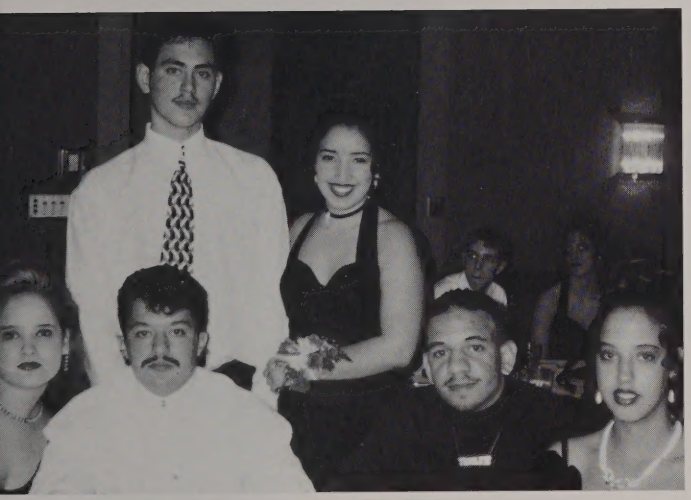




Sharing Food and Fun at the Sheraton



More Good Times at the Harvest Dance



Rob Dalton, "Santa", peered out over a sea of eager faces and wondered how he would be able to keep order as tiny tots engulfed him.

Better than any "mall" Santa, the LHS version came complete with donated toys and a pretty good suit, too!

This little girl didn't care that "good things come in small packages." She was awarded the large economy size and couldn't wait to tear into it.

Santa began to look a bit tipsy after 150 lapsitters came and went. Rob did a fabulous job as Santa and the kids were none the wiser. Probably the natural padding had them fooled.

The Annual LHS Toys for Tots campaign was more successful than ever.

GIVING

The call went out in early December for the students of Lowell High to support the Annual LHS Toys for Tots campaign, the popular toy distribution day for pre-schoolers in Lowell. Homeroom representatives willingly took on the task of collecting money donations to buy presents for some very appreciative pre-schoolers at the Murkland School.

A formidable job at best, this year's students were called upon to also include the Molloy School, after a request by principal Leo Parent. Mr. Nelson said, "No problem!" and it wasn't one. Both LHS teachers and volunteers then went shopping for boy or girl presents suitable for the age group, wrapped and bagged the three hundred gifts, drummed up a Santa suit from the Home Economics Department, and delivered the presents to some very happy little kids. Dan Moriarty and Rob Dalton vied for the role of Santa, but Rob won the coveted title for a day. This year the most popular gift was a Power Ranger figure.

he face on this pre-schooler say it all s Santa listens to promises for excelent behavior.

Santa's helpers Bryan Shanley, Pat Keane, Kris Genakos and Brian Cole load up the bags with presents before setting out for the little kids' Christmas parties.

The entire LHS student body came through the annual gift giving campaign while Dan Moriarty and Adam Martin volunteered to pack and deliver the presents to unsuspecting pre-schoolers.

Volunteer elves surrounded Santa but seemed more interested in mugging for the camera outside the Murkland School.

This bunch was really into the Christmas spirit as they received their toys from Santa. Enthusiasm ran high for the tiny tots as well as the LHS volunteers.

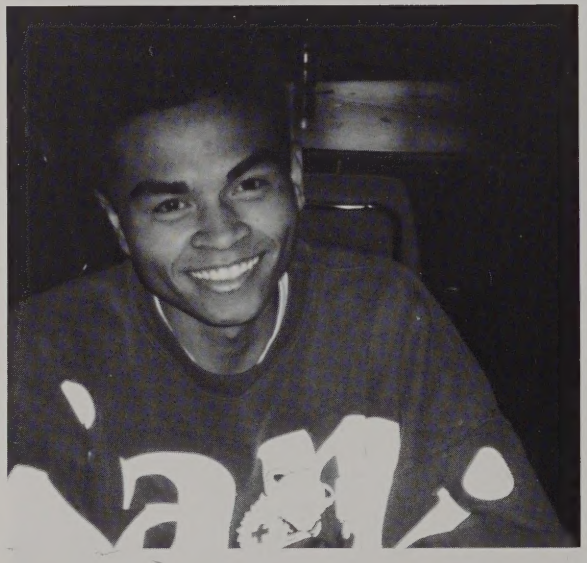
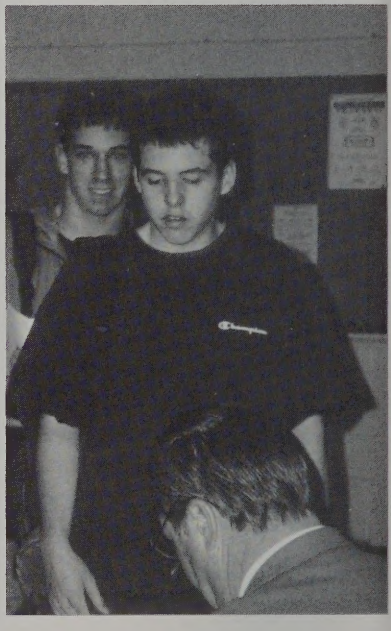
LEADERS, LATE AND LUNCH

Those who were late for school lined up to sign in with Mr. Nelson, "Lateman". Lunch was always a time for friends and socializing. Burgers and fries topped the menu and chairs were often scarce.





FACING THE DAY TOGETHER

Lunch was also a time for fundraising, announcements, checking out the picture boards, buying bus tickets, and squeezing into guidance for a quick question.

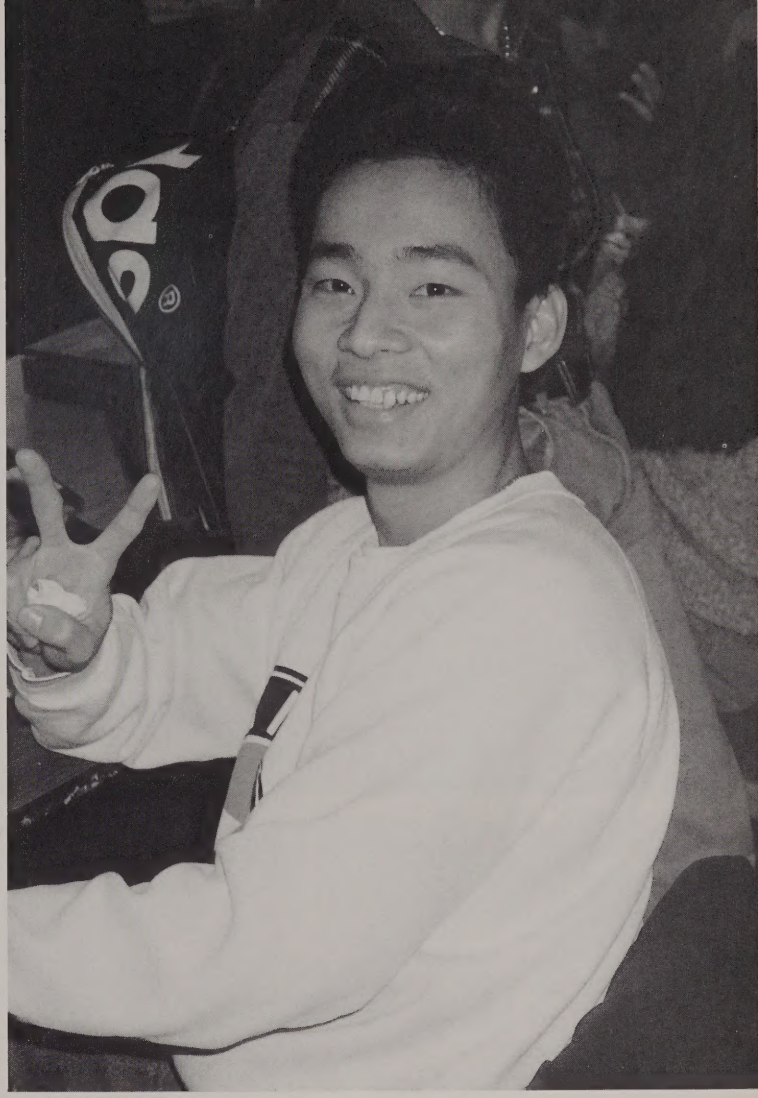
SENIORS RULE OF COURSE



Walter, Walter, Everywhere . . .!!!

Student Activities Director a friend to all . . .

Where's Walter? This was the question constantly asked and the answer was always . . . somewhere and everywhere. Walter Nelson covered all the bases while organizing Student Government meetings, release day activities, club extras, the Harvest, Pep Rallies, the NEMASC Conference, City Clean-Up Days, Student City Government Day, the LHS Restructuring Committee, class elections, Homecoming, letters of recommendation, motivational speakers, Teacher Appreciation Dinner, junior high visitations, fundraisers, Senior Week activities, the Prom, Headmaster Advisory Committee meetings, School Committee Advisory meetings, Toys for Tots, Sun Santa, Honor Awards Night, also serving as "Lateman" for the tardy sign-ins, and making other arrangements too numerous to mention . . . all this in between teaching his two classes and coaching Boys Indoor Track. He never waivered and he always knew the students' names. Many members of the Class of '95 will never forget "Wally's World" or their friend Mr. Nelson.

Volunteers, fans and student leaders

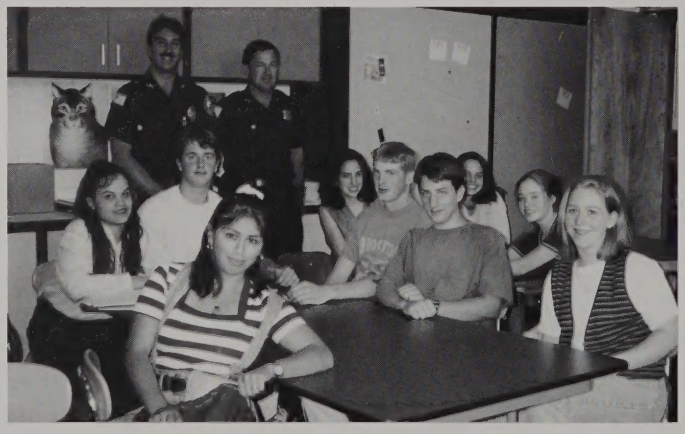
The student body of Lowell High was probably not aware of the scores of volunteers and hundreds of fans who lent their time and support to the teams and activities within the school.

The parent support group, Friends of Lowell High, boasted over 400 members many of whom volunteered their time at concession stands, sales, and awards functions on behalf of our students and their extracurricular activities. Money raised was used to fund scholarships, jackets, dinners, and various individual awards. Selflessly, groups such as the Raiders Club held numerous fund-raising activities in support of athletics. In renewed support of the football team, regular fans packed the stadium on beautiful fall nights to cheer on an invigorated team.

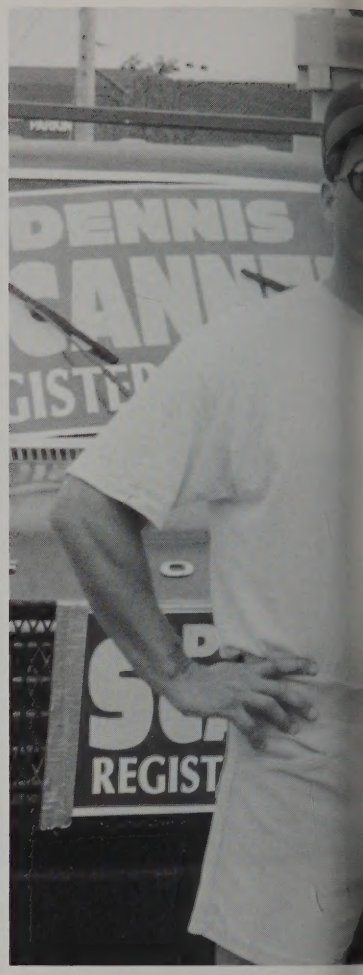
Add to this the Parent Site Council which met monthly with Headmaster Samaras to discuss issues directly affecting the student population. All were volunteers going the extra measure to work behind the scenes to ensure quality education and student well-being.

Student leaders met in the summer with Walter Nelson to discuss the coming year's agenda.

Bricklayers Union Local #35 volunteered their time during Folk Festival to build our new LHS sign.



D.A.R.E. Officers Kuenzler and Dolan spoke with Publications students about teens and department policies.



Manning the $1 parking lot at the Folk Festival '94 and throughout the year on behalf of the Raider Club.

Volunteers served students in many capacities.

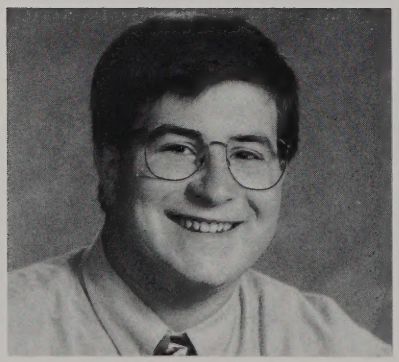
A Note of Special Recognition!

Sincere thanks to Matt Steinberg, who single-handedly typed all senior portrait information for both Senior sections of The Spindle. Without his hard work, this format would not have been possible.

Two sections are included because so many students did not meet the initial deadline for submission of their photos.



Matt Steinberg

Look for the Spindle Supplement in the Fall of 1995

All seniors will receive a 24-page supplement to this yearbook which will include Spring Sports and Golf, as well as the Prom and Graduation. Simply pick up your copy in the fall of 1995 and insert it conveniently into the back of your hardcover edition. The staff made every effort to cover as many aspects of LHS as possible and we apologize for any unintentional omissions. Your suggestions will help us to improve in future editions. We sincerely hope you enjoy the 1995 Spindle for years to come as you reflect back on your senior year at Lowell High School.

Memories: "Bite your shirt!" Picadilly Pub, our "plays", Chelmsford fire drill, junior year record . . . senior year record, 2 black strong, defense!, pre-game tape, parties in the trainer's room, our "state tournament bid" against Chelmsford!!, composure and passing.

Brian Akashian led the MVC Conference with 30 goals and he finished 12th in Division II state scoring.

Captain Corey Courtemanche had 81 points in his LHS career and finished 4th in the MVC small scoring race.

Seniors Matt Beausoleil (pronounced Boo-so-lay by Coach Liberatore) and Marcus Brito came to play every night.

The defense didn't rest; Ryan Martin holds off a Billerica player as goalie Clayton Stuart prepares for another busy night.

The dynamic duo scored against Dracut. Corey Coutemanche had two goals and Brian Akashian four goals in a 6-5 win to end the season.

The Hockey Team had a disappointing season finishing with a 1-18-1 record. A new coaching staff and some academic and personnel issues affected team depth. An early season injury to Jason Grand exposed a young defense. Clayton Stuart and Scott Merrill held up in goal, as each saw a lot of rubber from opposing teams. Given the number of promising young players, it is considered a rebuilding year.

The Red Raiders closed out the season with a 6-5 victory over Dracut with junior Brian Akashian and senior Corey Courtemanche leading the way. They are one of the most productive single-season scoring duos in LHS hockey history, accounting for 49 out of 58 goals between them in 1994-95. They were also among the MVC scoring leaders on the All-Conference team despite the team's record.

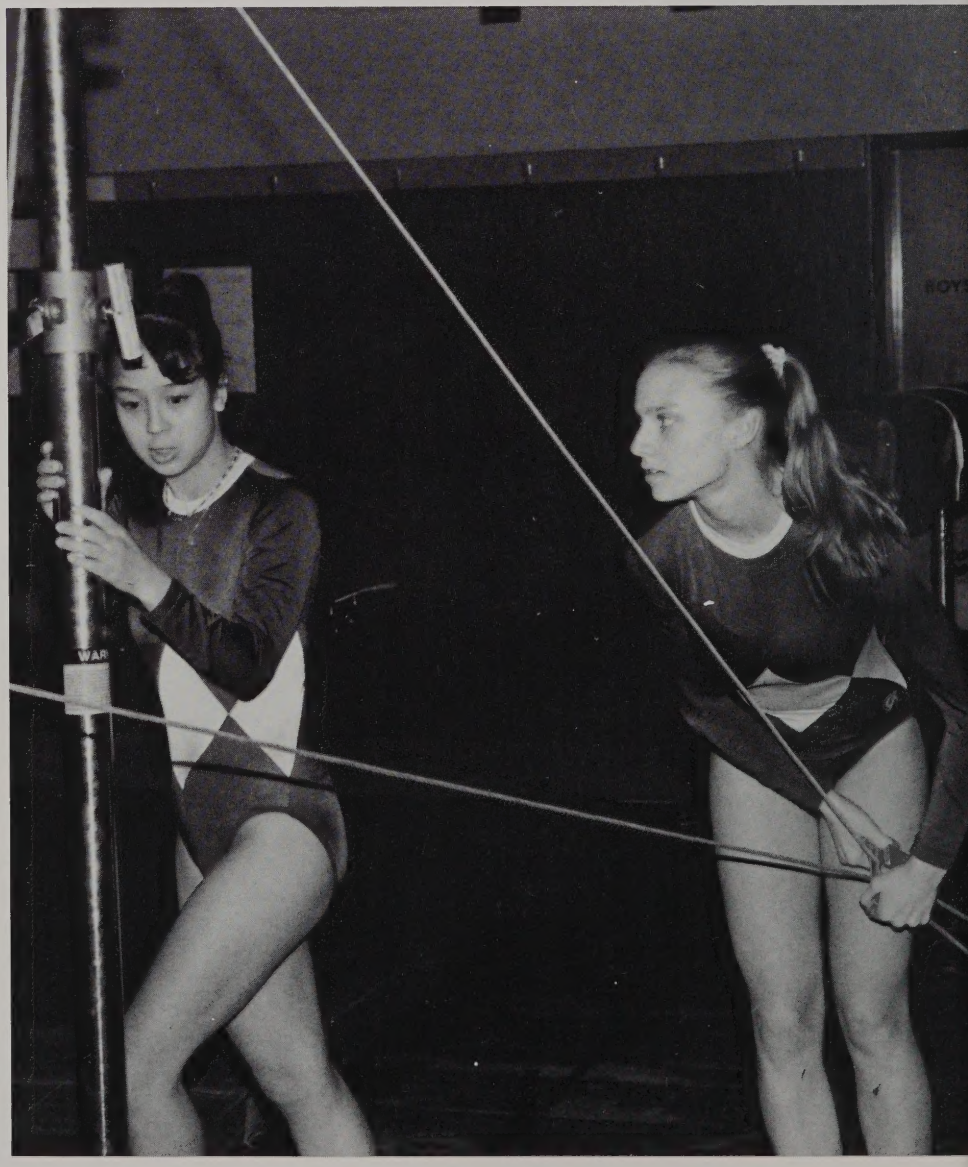
Akashian, Courtemanche and Ryan Martin were named to the MVC All-Star Team.

Note the pointed toes. Had the team done a bit more of this, the win column might have been more in balance for the eight meets.

Jen Smith walking pretty and hoping all the while that she doesn't fall off.

Sonja Lee made up this pose for Erin Blanchette's beam routine. Just a bit of goofing off.

Jen Smith and Sonja Lee change the bar setting for the uneven parallels. Looks like serious business.



Symmetry at its best as the team points for the photo shoot. The team had spirit and drive through a disappointing season. All the girls made a monumental effort.

Coach Eileen Murphy was not thrilled about having her picture taken but Assistant Coach Kathy Misset didn't seem to mind a bit.

. . . "It's how you play the game that counts." Winning therefore, wasn't everything, and so it was with the Girls gymnastics Team for '95. Reflecting back it was still a memorable season for the girls . . . Jen's tardiness, dragging Sonja around the gym for conditioning, Tracey's blue bloomers, short kips on bars, gossip stretching, Sidney's perverse mind, Truth or dare, the battle over the cookie dough, ice-cream, Sidney's bathroom expeditions, Courtney's fights, the first day of practice, Sidney's peace sign and giggle, Sidney the beam hog, Erin's cartwheels around the second floor, throwing water into the fountain and in the streets, arm wrestling in the elevator, oranges.

Boys Swimming

No life in the fast lane this season

The loss of last year's stars Josh Donahue, Chipper Luz and Mickie Durkin left the team in deep water as they struggled through ten tough losses for the season. Good memories abound instead: Lohmer!, Geddus' dry land, The Trainer's Room, Shawn's 42-second drop in the 500 at MVC's, Adrian and Jeremy, don't call the coach by his first name (Whitney), Lohmer singing Happy Birthday to Mrs. Durkin. The ROTC Race: Jesse vs. The Girk in the tunnel, Thellen's speed over Geddus, Hall's emergence as a power house diver, Hymer's hat, Van Norden's great attendance, injured shoulders, "Have fun in Florida next year!" Did we ever throw Steinbergler in the pool?, Still doin' it for Johnny, Not having Mick, Josh and Chip. We needed you guys!, Al becoming a star, Rhines must've been on roids, Lose one Durkin, pick up another, Stuck in Lawrence waiting for the bus, Illyad Fishman . . . it's just fun to say, Morris' early retirement, "Coach Batt, why can't Karen be our coach too?", good subs, the roaches, Lohmer's beached whale removal system, DaCunha showing up for practice after the season, new coaches Rick Battistini and Bill Geddus.

LHS Bad Publicity

We all know that in the past LHS's reputation has taken quite a beating , but many believe that public perception does not match the reality of daily life at Lowell High. Recently, several of the students at LHS were asked to describe the "daily life" at school. The majority said that Lowell High is a positive environment where almost everybody gets along and minds their own business. But as hard as we try to advertise LHS as a safe clean school, there is always something holding us back.

Many attribute LHS's status as a gun-toting, gang-ridden war zone to two significant events: the April 1991 slaying of To Ky and the alleged Sullivan beating last spring. These occurrences made headlines and news stories everywhere, further damaging any chances that Lowell High had at achieving respectability.

It is said that no news is good news, and it is believed that if

Custodians Fight Back

by Norman Olsen, LHS custodian

Enough of this custodian "bashing." For some unexplained reason, it seems the general consensus is that the custodian is the lowest form of life and we were all hired to be everyone's personal servant.

Request for a Homecoming "King"

Dear Editor:

Homecoming. Why can't guys get involved? If a girl wanted to run for Mr. Valentine and was not allowed to, it would be considered sexist and there would be a big to-do over it. But when boys enter the homecoming race, people treat it like a big joke (which it may be), and when they win people don't allow them to become the queen, for example, Kevin Curtis in 1992. If guys can't become the queen, why not institute a "king"? Having a queen and a king could only
